StreamEZ Sample Scenarios

❖ You want to search for a specific movie you saw people talking about on Twitter last week. You know it has to be on streaming services since everyone is talking about it but doesn't know which one it is. When you Google search the movie title for the answer, the only result you get quickly is Prime Video, with a 4.99 rent price. You want a way to search that will give you a definitive answer for what streaming service the title is available on.

❖ You just finished your last show and are currently looking for a new one to start. You first check social media but only see a bunch of titles you have never heard of. You are looking for a quick way to find out more about these titles and redirect to the necessary streaming site when you want.

❖ You have been keeping an extensive watchlist of movies and shows that people have recommended to you. You are just getting into streaming services and have been looking to add another subscription. You want a way to go down your list and see which service has the most titles from your watchlist.